Results From Separator.
To get the best results from the separator the Kansas experiment station urges observance of the three rules which follow: First—The speed of the bowl has an influence on the cream. A change in speed from one separation to another changes the per cent of fat to the cream. Second—The temperature of the milk affects the cream. If the milk is warm the cream will be thicker than if it is cold. Third—The amount separated per hour is another factor. This is especially important, for if the milk is unevenly fed into the bowl the thickness of the cream is greatly influenced. The amount of water or skim milk used to flush out the bowl will affect the quality of the cream. All these things tend to show that the separator must be handled with care and good judgment.

SIX BUILDINGS AND 3 HORSES ARE BURNED

Early Morning Blaze in North End of Town Destroys Buildings with all their Contents. Origin Unknown. Partially Insured. Notes of the Fire.

Fire between half past three and four o'clock this morning completely destroyed the barn, ice house, slaughter house, hog pen, chicken house and "work up" house of Mrs. Morgan Mickley in the rear of her property on Carlisle street. All of the contents were destroyed including a complete outfit of butcher's equipment and three horses, one belonging to Mrs. Mickley, one to J. B. Wineman, the Centre Square grocer, and one to Vincent J. Eckenrode, the Carlisle street butcher. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is placed at $3000 partially covered by insurance.

The fire was first discovered by Miss Verna Swartz, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Waltman. She aroused the family and they in turn called Mr. Mickley and Mr. Wineman. The fire had already gained great headway and the barn was then beyond control. The fire evidently originated in the hay mow and whether it was set on fire intentionally or otherwise is not fully known. The door to the stable was found open and it is believed that some one had either gone in to steal or to spend the night.

Several people in town saw the flames about the same time and ran to the engine house where the bell was rung with great vigor. It was many minutes however before the sleeping inhabitants of the town could be aroused and two of the buildings were practically burned to the ground when the first part of the apparatus arrived on the scene. There was almost no wind and there were no buildings near to the ones already doomed, a state of affairs which was most fortunate. It required but a few minutes' work on the part of the firemen after they got lines of hose laid and working until the flames were subdued and nothing but a smoldering pile of ashes remained.

The three horses were beyond aid when the first people arrived at the barn. Mr. Mickley was first there and the animals were then lying down. Three quarters of beef were burned up but there was no other meat in the building. Two butcher's wagons were destroyed together with an entire outfit of slaughter house machinery.

NOTES OF THE FIRE

The insurance on the buildings expired on October 11. Fortunately, however, it had been renewed.

Not in many years has it required such a long time to arouse the people of Gettysburg at the time of a fire. The bell was rung for fully twenty minutes and it was evident that citizens were sleeping their soundest.

John D. Lippy had a narrow escape from serious injury while running to the fire with the crowd pulling the engine. Mr. Lippy was at the tongue and slipped, falling immediately in front of the engine. The men with him quickly turned the tongue, saving him from a very serious accident.

John W. Brehm was awakened by the fire and without stopping to put on any clothes dashed down to the shed in the rear of his property and got his automobile to a place of safety. Several others had quite a hard job getting away from the wagon of the Atlantic Refining Company.

Trees prevented the sparks from setting fire to some buildings on the North side of Water street. Sparks were unusually plentiful at the fire.

FIELD DAY

The Knights' Templar Field Day on Friday of this week promises to be a big event. The parade with five commanderies and two bands will take place after the arrival of the morning trains and will traverse the principal streets of town going to the National Cemetery where a review will be held. The column then countermarching to the Square where it will disband. The Knights and Ladies will take dinner at the Eagle and Gettysburg and will spend the balance of the day on the battlefield.

All stores and business places as well as the homes of town should be decorated for the occasion and the committee is anxious that as many as possible do some decorating if it is only to put out a flag.

The Investigation Committee of the College Board of Trustees which was appointed last June to investigate the alleged dissatisfaction with the administration of Dr. Hefelbower as president of the institution closed its sessions Wednesday afternoon after having met Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the parlors of the Eagle Hotel.

The Committee which was appointed at the request of Dr. Hefelbower, consists of the following: Dr. John Wagner, Hazelton; Dr. H. H. Weber, York; Charles F. Stifel, Pittsburg; Frank E. Covin, Bedford; W. L. Gladfelter, Spring Grove.

The sessions of investigations were taken up largely with the taking of testimony of various persons connected with the college in one way or another. Members of the College faculty, H. C. Picking, Treasurer, Dr. M. H. Valentine, Philadelphia and Dr. William J. Gies, of New York City, were called before the committee which held its sessions behind closed doors.

The result is, of course, not known but a report of the committee's findings will be made at a special Winter meeting of the Board of Trustees which will be held at Harrisburg later on.

MINISTERS ACT ON DIVORCES

Lutheran Ministers in Session in College Lutheran Church Decide to Re-Marry only Certain Classes of Divorced Persons.

On Wednesday afternoon the West Pennsylvania Synod in session in the College church passed a resolution providing that no member of the Synod should remarry a divorced person unless the divorce had been obtained on Scriptural grounds. This is in line with the legislation of the General Synod at Richmond, Indiana, during the Summer.

Mechanicsburg was chosen for the place of holding next year's meeting, the church of Dr. E. D. Weigle, of that place, having extended an invitation to hold next year's sessions there. Rev. John Van Ness presented the cause of the Pennsylvania Bible Society. Mrs. L. L. Sieber brought the greetings of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with the hearing of reports and a meeting of the ministerium. The business of the Synod came to a close with this session.

In the evening the ordination service was held. Rev. G. M. Diffenderfer, of Carlisle, preaching the sermon to the following who were ordained as Lutheran ministers: Rev. Jacob Diehl, of Green-castle, and Rev. H. Clyde Brillhart, of Glen Rock, were licensed for another year and will be ordained by the president of Synod as soon as they accept calls.

Synod adjourned with Wednesday evening's session.

MRS. ANNIE SNEESINGER

Mrs. Annie Sneesinger died at the home of her son, Roswell Sneesinger, in Harrisburg, Wednesday morning at 9.15 o'clock.

Mrs. Sneesinger had been in ill health for several years, but only took her bed a short while before her demise. The immediate cause of death was heart disease and dropsy. She was aged about 65 years.

The deceased was a daughter of the late John and Nancy Dellone, and was born at East Berlin. She was married to Gregory Sneesinger, a son of Samuel Sneesinger, of McSherrystown, who died a number of years ago.

For some time Mrs. Sneesinger made her home with her brother, the late Andrew Dellone, in Hanover, moving to Harrisburg about nine years ago, where her son, Roswell, conducts a grocery store.

Mrs. Sneesinger was possessed of a cheerful disposition, whereby she was endeared to many young people in this county who affectionately called her "Aunt Annie."

She was the last survivor of this well known family, and an only son mourns the death of a devoted mother.

Mrs. Vincent Timmins, of McSherrystown, is a sister-in-law, and Mrs. Edward T. Smith, of Hanover, a niece of the deceased.

The funeral will be held at Harrisburg on Saturday where interment will be made.

$9500 PER MILE COST OF ROADS

So the County Commissioners are Told in Convention in Adams County Court House. Concrete Bridges the Best.

At Wednesday afternoon's session of the convention of county commissioners State Highway Commissioner Joseph W. Hunter, of Harrisburg, made an address showing the work of the State Highway Department during the past year. His report on the cost of building roads was especially interesting. He said that up to this time the state roads had cost on an average $9500 per mile. At the present time some brick roads are being made in Crawford County costing as much as $17,000 per mile. Hon. Mr. Hunter was asked numerous questions by the members of the convention.

In the absence of W. Howard Harpster, of Blair County, who was to have opened a discussion on "The Best and Most Economical Bridge for Counties to Build," a general discussion of the topic was held. It was the general consensus of opinion that the re-enforced concrete structure was the most economical and enduring.

At Wednesday evening's session, the last of the convention, reports of committees were heard and unfinished business put through. A vote of thanks was given Clement Dale acting president, and S. Miley Miller, acting secretary. Both made addresses in response.

The attendance at the convention was small throughout but the sessions were very instructive and profitable to all who were present.

PIRATES AGAIN TAKES THE LEAD

Defeats Detroit, 8 to 4, in Fifth Game of Series.

CLARKE SAVED THE DAY

Pittsburg's Manager Hit For Home Run With Two Men on Bases, After Detroit Had Tied the Score.

Pittsburg, Oct. 14.—Pittsburg took the lead in the great battle now being waged for the world's base ball championship by defeating Detroit, 8 to 4, in the fifth game of the big series, at Forbes Field. This gives the National League champions three victories to two for the winners of the American League pennant. The scene shifts to Detroit again today, where the sixth and possibly the last game of the series will be played. By winning today's game, Detroit will clinch the world's championship, but if Detroit wins the series will be tied again and a seventh game will be necessary.

A home run by Manager Fred Clarke, which scored Byrne and Leach in front of him, turned the tide of victory to Pittsburg in the seventh inning, after Detroit had tied the score at 3 to 3 by scoring two in the sixth. Detroit had two home runs to its credit, but neither came with any on base. D. Jones, the first man up in the first inning, hit the ball into the enclosure which had been built around the outfield for the overflow. Sam Crawford made the other Detroit home run in the eighth.

Charles Adams, the phenomenal youngster of the Pittsburg team, achieved the high distinction of being the only pitcher to win twice in the series by annexing this game. Adams clearly outpitched Summers, who worked the first seven innings for Detroit, but he was lucky in having the team behind him hitting, as he allowed the losers four runs. Adams allowed six hits—two home runs, two two-baggers and two singles, while Summers was hit safely ten times, including one home run and one double. The score:

Memory of Bee.
Sir John Lubbock in his remarkable book on bees proves that the honey makers have plenty of memory. He has shown that the bees of a colony recognized each other after a separation of fifteen months. The members of the same colony always recognize each other after a prolonged absence, and although it has not yet been established, there seems to be good reason to believe that they do so principally by the sense of smell and not by some signal or password, as has been supposed.

CRUDE OIL IN OLD WELL EXCITES TOWN

Substance Bursts Into Flames When Thrown on Fire.

Womelsdorf, Pa., Oct. 14.—Considerable excitement has been caused at Myerstown by the finding of what appears to be crude coal oil. For some time the well at the Crouse house, which had been used for the watering of horses, has been tasting oily, and during the last week most of the horses refused to drink the water. It was decided finally to empty the well, when it was noticed that the top of each bucket of water was oily. Finally the pumpers decided to see whether it would burn and applying a match to some of it, it burned freely. Buckets of it thrown on a bonfire burst into flame.

Older residents declare that for the last twenty-five years or more the water in the well was reported to taste of oil.

The water taken out contained large quantities of oil, which had a light yellow color and smelled like coal oil.

The annual loss to live stock in the United States from the ravages of predatory animals is placed at $130,000,000. In the face of these figures it is not surprising that a campaign of extermination is being organized by state and federal authorities.

OUT OF THE TRENCH.

By F. A. MITCHEL.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

A few years after the civil war two men met on Broadway, New York. The one wore the long hair and sombrero that marked him for a southerner; the other was black as the ace of spades.

"Fo' de Lawd, Marse Geo'ge!" exclaimed the negro, with eyes and mouth open wide.

"Ben, yo' black rascal, what are you doing up here in Yankee land?"

"Wha' I doin' up hyar? I wouldn't be hyar if you war alive?"

"But I am alive."

"Don't know 'bout dat. Spec' yo' may be yo' ghos'. How come yo' be livin' when de fambly all tink yo' be killed at de battle o' Sharpsburg? If yo' be livin', how 'bout dat awful rakedown I got from Missy Alice?"

"What rakedown?"

"Mebbe yo' don't know dat when yo' go off to de wah an' I go with yo' oostenuously to take keer o' yo' boss I war really set up to go by Missy Alice fo' to take keer o' yo' self, especially if yo' got sick or wounded. De night befo' de regiment marched away Missy Alice she come to my cabin an' she say, 'Ben, yo' infernal nigger!'"

"Oh, no, she didn't."

"Well, enny way, she said: 'Ben, I's mighty glad yo' goin' with yo' Marse Geo'ge. If he sick or wounded yo' write me every day!' 'I can't write, Missy Alice,' I says. And she says, says she: 'Well, get some one else to write fo' yo' or send me word if he needs me and I'll come mighty quick to nu'se him. If yo' stick to him an' bring him back safe an' soun' to me I'll see dat yo' git yo' freedom.' An' I says: 'Missy Alice, I don't keer 'bout my freedom. I don't want my freedom. I's allus lived in this fambly an' I don't want to live anywhere else. But I'll watch Marse Geo'ge fo' yo' an' let yo' know if he needs nu'sin'.' I don't promise to bring him back safe an' soun' to yo', but if he gets killed or dies o' camp fever or any o' them sojers' diseases I promise yo' on my wo'd o' honah as a Turnoil nigger dat hasn't nevah belonged to no odder fambly dat I'll bring his body back fo' yo' to weep ovah an' be buried in de fambly buryin' ground."

"Den Missy Alice she say, 'Ben, yo's debilish fine nigger!'"

"No, she didn't, but go on."

"She say, says she: 'Ben, I b'lieve yo'. If yo' do dat I neber fo'git it. But if yo' don't bring him back either libin' or dead yo'd bettah nevah been bo'n'. How come yo' up hyar in New York, Marse Geo'ge, when yo' war killed—I mean missin'—in de battle o' Sharpsburg, an' yo' cunnel said yo' body was throwed into de trench?"

"Go on with your story. Never mind my part of it."

"I hunted dat battlefield all ovah, turnin' every man layin' on his face, even de Yanks, and I didn't see yo' no-whar, Marse Geo'ge. Den de cunnel he sent an orderly fo' me an' he say: 'Ben, yo' mastah be been killed, an' he body must a' been throwed into de trench. Yo' go home an' tell his people 'bout it. Wha' he know 'bout me an' dat I war a Turnoil nigger?"

"I asked him to do all that. Go on. I'm anxious to hear the rest."

"Fo' tell him to do dat? Wha' fo' yo' do dat, Marse Geo'ge?"

"I'll tell you my story when you get through with yours. Go on, I say."

"My story's nuffin' mo' 'n de drubbin' I got from Missy Alice. I went home to de plantation one mornin', and Missy Alice she saw me comin' 'way up de road. She fled out of de house an' run to me, out o' bref, an' she cried out: 'Oh, Ben! Is he dead?"

An' I broke it sofly to her. I says, says I: 'Marse Geo'ge, he wha' he don't suffah no mo', Missy Alice. 'Deed he don't.' 'Wha' is he? she moaned, stage'u back. 'In de trench,' I say. 'De'y throwed him in befo' I could git him?"

"Fo' de Lawd, Marse Geo'ge, though I broke de news as sofly as I knew how, she jis' drop right down wha' she stan' with a shivah. I helped her up an' toted her into de house. Den when she come to herself she said, with a voice dat sounded lak a ha'n't in de tomb: 'Ben, go 'way from me an' don't let me evah see yo' ag'in. Yo's been unfaithful to de trus' I reposed in yo'.' Go 'way, you debilish nigger! Yo'!"

"Hold on, there! Don't put words you said to yourself into her pure mouth."

"Yes, Marse Geo'ge, I said 'em, a heap of 'em—wo'se an' wo'se. An' I turned roon', as de men do when de battery's sendin' out shot an' shell an' grape in their faces, an' I lef de plantation, an' I hain't neber been back drum dat day to this. An' I suffered all this on yo' account. An' yo' wasn't in de trench after all. Wha' debilish bad luck!"

"Ben," said the other, much affected, "you've hit it exactly. It would have been better if I had been put into the trench. I was stupid enough to become a victim of a diabolical story."

There was another girl—well, I was engaged to be married to her long before—who wrote me that a Yankee officer who had come down with the Federal army had taken my place. After Sharpsburg I got my colonel to send you back with the story that I had been killed and thrown into the trench. I wished to be dead to every one I had been brought up with, especially to her."

"It war might 'ard on Missy Alice, but I'd rather been Missy Alice than myself. Marse Geo'ge, yo' go right back to de ole plantation an' tell Missy Alice twar all yo' fault. Tell her yo' a liar an' I a might 'fine nigger."

"I'll do it, Ben, and I'll take you with me."

The kidney secretions were very irregular in passage, causing me much annoyance and severe pains often darted through my body. PROF. FERRER SHOT TO DEATH

Spanish Rebel Executed in Fortress by Soldiers.

INDIGNATION IN PARIS

Demonstration Against Spain in French City Ends in Bloodshed. Pope's Appeal in Behalf of Ferrer Ignored.

Barcelona, Oct. 14.—Professor Francisco Ferrer, the Spanish educator and convicted revolutionist, was shot. The execution was done at the fortress of Montjuich, where the prisoner had been confined since his condemnation by court martial.

Ferrer declined to receive the last sacraments and turned away from the two priests who had been sent by the prison authorities to offer him the final consolation of the church.

When the hour of his execution arrived he walked bravely through the prison yard to the ditch in the shadow of the encircling wall. Without a quiver he faced the twelve infantrymen, who at the word of command fired simultaneously. When the report of the volley had died away Ferrer lay dead upon the ground.

Pope's Appeal Ignored.

Rome, Oct. 14.—It is stated that the pope made a direct appeal to King Alfonso on behalf of Ferrer, but his intervention was in the nature of a suggestion rather than a request. His holiness did not insist upon his appeal when he was informed that reasons of state rendered Ferrer's execution indispensable.

RIOTING IN PARIS

Anti-Spanish Demonstration Ends in Bloodshed.

Paris, Oct. 14.—The manifestation in protest against Ferrer's execution at Barcelona gave rise to rioting, in which a policeman was killed by a shot intended for Prefect of Police Lepine, which passed so close to him that his face was marked by powder.

A mass meeting was summoned by special editions of Humanite and Herve's organ, the Social War, calling on every one to meet in the Place de Clichy and proceed to the house of the Spanish ambassador.

Herve's appeal was worded with more than his customary violence. He said: "The royal young idiot, whose heart has not been touched by Ferrer's daughter's tears or the indignant protest of the civilized world, is an assassin. He will and like his neighbor, Portugal's royal hog. He signed his own condemnation to death, and when he dies like a dog no man of heart in the whole world will shed a tear over the royal carrion."

A procession of many thousands of persons, crying "Assassin!" and "Vive Ferrer!" started at a brisk rate. No attempt was made to stop the procession, which was allowed to occupy the whole breadth of the avenue, but when they arrived within fifty yards of the municipal guards the latter advanced smartly to meet them. As the mounted men met the crowd five revolver shots were fired from the ranks of the procession. The shots seemed to come from one revolver. Immediately reinforcements of mounted men and numbers of police hurried up and drove back the crowd a hundred yards with blows from their sheathed swords. Here two more shots were fired and a bicycle policeman was killed.

The rioting then became general. The crowd broke all the gas lamps in the surrounding streets. The mounted men charged repeatedly. The mob stopped three automobile buses within 200 yards of each other in the Rue Toqueville and set them on fire. They were completely destroyed. An attempt was made to form a barricade with lampposts, which were torn down. An order was given to draw sabres, and the mounted men, numbering sixty, followed by the police, made a savage charge, scattering the crowd.

September's dirt-throwing record brought the total of earth removed from the canal to 87,000,000 cubic yards, leaving exactly the same amount to be dug yet.

It is predicted that the digging from now on will be easier. The force now employed on the canal is the largest since the work began. The canal commission, railroad and commissary employ 33,901 men. Of these 25,519 are digging or looking after those who are doing the digging.

SUICIDE ENDS DARING HOLD-UP

Bandit Robs Bank and Kills Himself When Pursued.

HIS COMPANION ARRESTED

Secured $500 After Forcing Cashier, Bookkeeper and Teller into Cage. Planned to Escape in Automobile, But Alarm Was Given Too Quickly.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A fashionably dressed bandit, who robbed the savings bank of D. M. Briskine & Co., in Highland Park, Ill., an aristocratic suburb on the Lake Shore railroad, committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth when driven to bay by the Highland Park marshal and a posse of citizens.

A companion of the robber, who had driven him to the bank in an automobile, was captured immediately following the robbery, forcing the principal perpetrator of the daring daylight crime to flee on foot. He was engaged in a running duel with Town Marshal John Sheehan, who was the target for many bullets from the fugitive bandit's revolver, one of which went through the sleeve of his coat. After running several blocks and failing to drive back his pursuer, the robber ran into a shed, closely followed by Sheehan. When he saw Sheehan enter the shed with his revolver levelled at his head, the fugitive put the muzzle of his own revolver in his mouth and fired a shot which resulted in his death almost immediately.

The robbery was conducted in a deliberate and spectacular manner, the bandit securing about $500 in gold coin and bills after he had forced John C. Duffy, cashier of the bank; Miss Nellie Fitzgerald, the bookkeeper, and Joseph F. Richards, the receiving teller, into the cashier's cage just after the closing of business for the day.

A Spectacular Robbery. While his companion remained outside in the automobile the bandit entered the bank.

"Call every one in here into that cage," he said to Cashier Duffy, "or I'll blow your head off. Hurry up." Duffy, unarmed, complied with the demand. Miss Fitzgerald and Richards came into the cage, while the intruder helped himself to all the money in sight. He carefully tucked the gold and bills into his pocket and then exclaimed:

"If any of you attempt to follow me I will kill you."

He started for the door, and Duffy immediately telephoned the marshal's office across the street. By the time the robber reached the automobile Marshal Sheehan was running toward the bank. At sight of him the robber broke into a run and citizens held the chauffeur. The chase after the fugitive was a thrilling one, but ended in his suicide within a few minutes. All the money taken from the bank was found in his clothing.

The dead man was identified as a J. C. Wilson, of Milwaukee, Wis., and his companion as Fred Schwab. The automobile is owned by J. E. Keely, a wealthy mining man, and Schwab is his chauffeur.

WOODEN HOOPED STAVE SILOS

A practical farmer communicating with the Farm and Ranch concerning the stave silos says: This silo consists of the requisite number of staves to make the desired size, bound together, similar to a mammoth tank or cistern, with iron hoops, which can be loosened or tightened as desired. Silos of this type made by different manufacturers differ from one another mainly in the style of door frame and door or the fastening for the same, on which there may be a patent. There is no patent, however, on the stave silo, and any one is at liberty to erect one if he desires to do so.

Any of the various manufacturers will sell the door frame, doors and hoops separately if desired, and the staves can be purchased from a local lumber dealer. If possible it is best to have the staves six inches wide and tongued and grooved. If it is impossible to get these made up in this way 2 by 4 can be used if they are jointed on both edges, but they should not be beveled, as the inside edges will close more tightly if left square.

Where 2 by 4 are used a 40d spike should be driven through each stave into the one next to it every four or five feet to keep them in position should the hoops loosen during the dry weather of summer when the silo is empty. A shallow hole should be bored where each nail is driven to countersink the head.

These silos should be placed on a circular wall the same as the other type of silos mentioned above.

For a silo of this character fourteen feet in diameter and thirty feet high, with a capacity to hold ninety tons, the following bill of materials is suggested by the United States department of agriculture:

Foundation.—Three and three-fourths cubic yards crushed stone or gravel, two cubic yards of sand, four and one-fourth barrels portland cement.

Silo Staves.—One hundred and thirty-three pieces 2 by 4, sixteen feet; 133 pieces 2 by 4, fourteen feet.

Hardware.—Eight rods three-fourth inch, eleven feet six inches long; eight rods five-eighth inch, eleven feet six inches long; twenty rods one-half inch, eleven feet six inches long; eighteen malleable lugs, fifty pounds 40d spikes, sixty-four bolts threeeleighs by four, 133 pieces galvanized steel two inches wide, four by one-fourth long.

Roof.—Twenty-two pieces 1 by 12, ten feet long; four pieces 2 by 4, ten feet long; one center pole eight inches in diameter, four feet long.

The pieces of galvanized steel are provided to fasten the ends of the 2 by 4 inch staves together, a slit being sawed in the end of each. The iron rods should be threaded for about eight inches on each end and loose fitting nuts provided. These rods make the bands or hoops with which to compress the staves together.

The twelve inch boards for the roof should be split diagonally, leaving the pointed end not over one-half an inch in width. Erect the center pole between the four rafters, making a one-third pitch, and build the roof in the form of a cone, resting the narrow end of the board against the center pole. Make a plate on the inside of the top of the staves by bending around the inside two thicknesses of one-half by six boards and nailing them firmly to each stave.

Anchor the silo to the ground by putting three eye bolts through this plate and running four strands of No. 6 galvanized wire from them to a solid stick or rock buried in the ground not over three feet distant from the foundation. Use three of these anchor cables.

Paralysis in Swine.

Paralysis in swine most often follows overfeeding of rich nitrogenous foods to animals that are closely confined. Pigs do best when allowed a considerable range and not fed too highly. As this affection involves the spinal cord, it is not only liable to prove fatal, but is not, as a rule, satisfactorily treated. First remove the cause. Cut down feed and allow plenty of range, and if not fed too liberally they will forage about and get exercise. Young pigs only partially paralyzed will often come right treated as above advised. Old animals will not often respond to any form of treatment.

Overfeeding Cattle.

It is argued by those who feed all the corn cattle will consume, swine following at the same time in the pastures, that the hogs will take care of all that is not digested. It is true that the swine will gather all the corn in the veldings, but it is also true that cattle when fed very heavily will consume and digest more food than can be assimilated by the system, so that neither the animal to which the grain is fed nor the swine will get the full benefit of the same.

Why I Buy Wooltex Garments

"And yet another reason. 'Fit."

"Style, materials, workmanship of Wooltex garments, as I have proven to you, are all good—but they would be of less value if the garment did not fit.

"Every Wooltex garment is cut from most exact measurements for each size. Then it is fitted over a figure. Last of all it is fitted over a living model.

"Wooltex garments need little alteration, as they are fitted to the average figure. The length of the back is never exaggerated. There is a comfortable fullness over the bust, but no wrinkling. The hip size is carefully proportioned to the waist.

"In the armhole of every lined Wooltex coat is a silk-covered shield that improves the fit at that point.

FARM ORCHARD AND GARDEN BY F. E. TRIGG REGISTER ROCKFORD, ILL. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED

[This matter must not be reprinted without special permission.]

THE POOR MAN PROSCRIBED.

It is very likely superfluous to criticize the method by which Uncle Sam disposes of his public lands, but some phases of land drawings as ordinarily conducted seem to show that a fairer and more considerate policy might be followed. This would be along the line of allowing registration for the drawing without requiring the presence of persons at the place where the registration is to take place, the one desiring to register instead appearing before a notary in his home town. This would be a boon to many poorer people, who feel they can ill afford to bear the expense of a trip hundreds or thousands of miles to the locality where the drawing is to take place when there is not one chance in a hundred that they will be successful. Were such persons allowed to register at home and mail their applications the registration would be increased many fold. Those who did register would thus not be compelled to make a trip unless they were among the fortunate ones, in which event they would feel that there was enough at stake to justify an expenditure of their hard earned money sufficient to inspect the land to be awarded. Such an arrangement would cut down passenger traffic, but inasmuch as land drawings are not held primarily for the profit of transportation companies this would not be a vital consideration. It would, on the other hand, encourage many a poor man to register for land drawings who does not now do so, because the chances of success are so slim as not to warrant the expense involved. If there is any class which ought to benefit in the distribution of public lands it is the class just named.

ONLY A PATCH.

Nebraska and Colorado have lately passed stringent laws forbidding the importation of dairy cattle of any kind which do not show a clean bill of health in the matter of freedom from tuberculosis. This action may be called radical by those who would suffer from an enforcement of the law, but from the standpoint of a decent regard for the public health it is to be commended. Yet a matter that so vitally concerns the public health should not be left for the individual state to cope with, but should be reached by an effective federal law. Were such a measure enacted and the interstate shipment of tuberculous animals prohibited the ax would be laid at the root of the difficulty, and the individual dairyman of no consequence, being prohibited from selling diseased animals, would quit business or reform. Action by individual states is a step in the right direction, but it is at best a patch where in truth a new garment is needed.

The Chinese Cow.

The Chinese cow has been bred as a work animal rather than for milking purposes, and, beyond feeding her calf, it appears that she has almost lost her claim to being a dairy animal. A cow in China is seldom milked without the assistance of the calf.

A Few Facts About

LIVER TROUBLE.

A dull, sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling to the entire body. When the liver works properly the blood courses through the body in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter. A great many people try to get a fine, clear, pink and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a lifetime and the same yellow complexion would remain—for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexions. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

To get rid of the dull, heavy feeling and muddy, yellow complexion get the liver to working again. Two 50c bottles of BLOODLINE will do it nine times out of ten. If you are troubled with Constipation and Straining use BLOODLINE LIVER PILLS with the BLOODLINE.

An orchard plow has recently been devised with which it is possible to run close to the trunks of the trees, yet allows horses to work two or three feet farther from the tree. It is something that has been needed and is highly prized by those who have used it.

Secretary Cohn of the Kansas state board of agriculture refers in his book on alfalfa to fields of this legume in Mexico which have reached an age of 200 years, to fields in France that are 100 years old and to some in New York which have 60 years to their credit. In the face of such figures alfalfa well deserves its designation, "perennial."

The Montana experiment station has been making some investigations with a view to learning just how great is the effect of alkali in the soil upon different kinds of cement work. Cases have come to the notice of the station officials where cement foundations in moist alkali soil have almost entirely disintegrated. While the tests have not been completed, enough has been learned to make out a pretty bad case for cement work set in alkali soil.

WHY NOT STOP THAT ITCH? People's Drug Store Assures Relief with Every 25 Cent Bottle.

The People's Drug Store of this town says that he has found indisputable proof that eczema can be cured—not in one or two cases, but in scores of cases which he has studied.

He would, of course, not think of making such a recommendation to his neighbors and patrons, were it not that his years and years of success with D. D. D. Prescription enables him to speak of this remedy with confidence. It is a gentle, soothing wash with the mild oil of wintergreen as a base. All the cures seem to be permanent, at any rate, a trial bottle at 25 cents will take away the itch at once—instantly. We are sure of this. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Penn'a.

ROOT JUICE IS DOING IT

Scores of Local People Praising it

These last days of the Root Juice demonstration at People's drug store, it is hard to get the great medicine in fast enough to supply the demand. The scientist said: "While many people of Gettysburg are surprised at the sales at this point it is not surprising to me as at Ft. Wayne, Johnstown and many other points, the demand for the juice is so great that the people at the laboratory at Fort Wayne are often behind with orders as much as two weeks. Those who are interested in the remedy should go to the drug store and listen to the reports of the dozens of people that are calling daily. Among the many to testify to the great good Root Juice is doing here in Gettysburg was a well known business man who said: 'My wife has been a long sufferer from catarrh of the stomach, bowels and bladder; her kidneys were so badly deranged, she suffered a great deal with pains in the small of her back and stomach and bowels, her tongue was badly coated and she always had a bad taste in her mouth; she was very nervous, sleep did not refresh her. In fact she had so many pains and they were frequently so severe that she couldn't tell what part of the body pained the most. She has treated with doctors for months at a time and took many kinds of medicine, but was growing worse all the time. Of late our neighbors have been talking so much about Root Juice and telling of the wonderful things it is doing that she decided to try it. She has been using it but a short while, but is almost entirely free from pain and is gaining in strength very rapidly. I don't believe she would have lived three months if it hadn't been for Root Juice.' Those who have not visited People's drug store during the past three weeks can have no idea of the number of people that have expressed themselves as wonderfully benefited after taking the Juice a short while. Many have called to report a complete cure, and many others have said: 'I am fast recovering health under the Juice treatment.' The great remedy is so soothing, healing and strengthening to the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, that it seems to cause every one that takes it to feel better in a very few days. We are told that the demonstration will close next Saturday night and until then the Juice is sold for $1 a bottle or three for $2.50.

BIG DAIRY RECORDS.

Good Results Do Not Require Vast Outlay.

Many dairymen, says the Practical Dairyman, think that the big records are entirely beyond their reach; that it takes a vast outlay of money for barns and fancy feeds to develop a great producer. Nothing could be further from the truth. We know personally of at least four herds in which the annual milk production was increased from 3,000 pounds to 7,000, 8,000, 9,000 and even 10,000 pounds for each animal. These are not fancy breeders, and the cows are not pedigreed beauties, but ordinary cows bred from common stock by the use of a pure bred bull for four or five generations. The owner of sixteen 10,000 pound cows was laughed at two years ago when he set his aim at that figure. He has now not only reached it—the average includes two-year-old heifers—but he has set his eyes on a 12,000 pound average.

Blackleg.

Blackleg is a disease that very much resembles anthrax, incurable and fatal. The symptoms are very much the same as those of anthrax excepting the animals may live a few days longer with anthrax than with blackleg. It only affects younger animals, while anthrax affects both. Perhaps the strongest symptom of blackleg is a gathering of air or swelling underneath the skin of the affected animals. This usually takes place a few hours after the animal becomes infected, and in tapping upon the swelling it sounds as if there was air underneath the skin. This swelling may be located upon the thighs, neck, shoulders, breast, hock joints, flank or rump. There is no treatment for blackleg excepting a preventive. This is done by vaccinating the balance of the herd with blackleg vaccine, which has proved very successful.—Dr. David Roberts.

Large Hog Pastures.

The best solution of the whole hog pasture problem seems to be that of using large hog pastures and clover or grass as the pasture crop. The cost of fencing per acre is then reduced to a minimum. The area is large enough so that no difficulty will be experienced in using the regular farm implements for tillage nor in accomplishing a maximum amount of work.

SHEEP FOR WOOL.

For Best Results Animals Must Be Strong and Healthy.

There is one very important thing which is oftentimes neglected or taken into consideration by the sheep breeder or buyer—that is, constitution. Weak sheep cannot produce good, strong lambs; neither can they give returns in the feed lot. The healthy, strong constitutional sheep has a much different appearance and general make-up than the weak one. In the examination of a sheep I always start at the end of the nose and work back, says a buyer. The indications of strong constitutions are a wide, open nostril, a short, broad head, width and depth of chest, fullness behind the shoulder both on top and at the side and well sprung ribs coming wide out from the backbone. Such a sheep has room for the vital organs to perform their work in a proper manner. Neither the breeder nor the feeder can afford to lose sight of the constitution in his sheep, because his profits will certainly be cut short.

To have the wool dense and of good length is a prime requisite. Although the breeders in the corn belt must pay close attention to the mutton qualities in their flock, a good fleece can also be added. The Merino need not be introduced for this purpose. By careful selection rams of the English mutton breeds can be obtained which have extremely heavy fleeces that are very dense. There is a great variation in fleeces, and when making selection of your flock leader it is well not to be too easily satisfied. The fleece should be of good length and the fiber dense.

Notice carefully the wool covering the belly. We must guard against bareness here for several reasons. Proper wool will increase the weight of fleece and also serve as a protection from cold when the sheep is lying on wet ground. A good heavy fleece can be produced on mutton sheep of the highest type, and we must still strive to have that sort. Not only does it increase your profits at home, but it increases the price of the lambs you send to market. In our large market centers sheep pelts are considered quite an item, and the lambs with heavy dense fleeces will outsell others.

City Milkman.

If the good old saw, "Early to bed and early to rise," really does make a man "healthy, wealthy and wise," the milk wagon drivers of this city ought to have unlimited stores of wisdom, health and coin, says the Chicago Tribune, for the milk wagon driver arises when the birds are snoozing away in their little beds, and he retires, because he's got to do it to get any sleep, before said birds have sung their evening songs and gone to rest. He gets up and has his work done before many people have arisen for the day.

THE HORSEMAN

The co-operative plan of keeping stallions in a community is found successful by many. This consists of a number of owners of live stock clubbing together and purchasing a highly bred animal to be used by the community.

Breed For Merit.

Fashion breeding and booms in certain trotting families invariably follow unusual success. Breed for merit as well as pedigree. A mature horse of unusual merit will always sell for a good price even though not fashionably bred. The time has gone by, however, that fashionably bred animals which lack genuine merit can be sold for high prices.

Si'age For Horses.

If the horses can be taught to relish silage, it will be very good for them in small quantities, say from ten to twenty pounds per day. Some have refused to learn, but most of them will soon learn to like the peculiar pungent odor, especially if aided at first by some of nature's "plain sauce." Some feeders mix one part of corn silage and two parts cut straw and let this be the regular diet.

The Arabian Horse.

The Arab horses have been used for centuries to effect improvement of other breeds. The Arabian horse has been bred in certain lines for many centuries and transmits its qualities with great certainty. The first Arabian stallion was brought to this country in 1705. The impression of style, intelligence, fineness, spirit and high breeding is well sustained by the appearance of the best specimens of the breed.

No Eggs For Horses.

It has been claimed that it is a good thing to feed eggs to stallions during the breeding season, but a noted New England veterinarian says a well nourished horse would not be greatly benefited by being fed eggs. It is a fact that eggs are highly nutritious and ought to be used to advantage if an animal lacked vitality. However, the digestive system of the horse is not capable of digesting animal proteins, and consequently he would not be able to secure the full benefit of such foods.

The Fleish Fly.

The house fly eggs, but the fleish fly, known as the bluebottle, produces living larvae about fifty at a time.

Remembered Whole Books.

Walter Savage Landor carried his library in his head. When he had read a book he always gave it away on principle, having, as he said, observed that with such a purpose in his mind he was sure to retain of a book all that was worth keeping. In his old age Landor was furious if he did not at once remember any passage of a book or any name or date.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. BARRON, Chatham, N. Y. Press Correspondent New York State Grange

THE NATIONAL GRANGE

Convenes in Annual Session at Des Moines, Ia., in November.

Official announcement has been made of the forty-third session of the national grange at Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 10-19. The Savory hotel will be the headquarters, and the business meetings will be held in a large hall in the hotel and the public meetings in the Auditorium. On Thursday evening of that week the subordinate degrees and the sixth and seventh will be conferred. All day Thursday will be devoted to the public meetings, at which time it is expected that Iowa and adjoining states will be represented by their chief executives of United States senators, also heads of agricultural colleges. The feature of the public meetings will be the address of the Right Hon. Sir Horace Plunkett of Ireland, who is at the head of the great co-operative movement in that country. Friday and Saturday of that week will be devoted to degree work, and on Saturday evening the annual session of the Priests of Demeter, the highest official body of the grange, will be held. The annual memorial services will occur on the following Sunday. The balance of the session will be devoted strictly to business. Hon. N. J. Bacheelder, master of the national grange, will preside. The biennial election of officers will take place this year.

N. J. BACHEELDER.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

The Grange Active in an Intelligent and Aggressive Way.

The second annual good roads convention was held Sept. 21 to 23 at Cleveland, O., under the auspices of the American Automobile association, the national grange, United States office of public roads, the American Roadmakers' association and several automobile organizations. The highway problem was considered from all angles, and the varied interests of the participants brought out a presentation of all the modern phases of the subject.

The grange has been very active in an intelligent and aggressive way in the stimulation of thought and action on improved highways and represents well the farmer's view, says the Breeder's Gazette. The prejudice against motors on the highways is wearing away and will the more rapidly disappear as farmers come in larger numbers to the use of these machines. Undoubtedly at present many farmers are influenced against road betterment because it brings increased use by autos. Time was when many farmers fought road improvement because bicyclists advocated it, and their attitude toward the subject is the same now that motorists are interested in a movement for better highways.

It is idle to fight the trend of the times. A road suitable for an auto is better suited to the farmer's wagon or buggy than one which the motorist shuns. Interests are identical. Discussion is useless on that point. The problems are the best system of road building and maintenance and the equitable distribution of the cost. It is rank injustice to ask that all the cost fall on the farmer.

A Worthy Compliment.

The Patrons of Husbandry, or grange, as it is more commonly known, is the oldest of farmers' organizations. It has made mistakes, yet it has a magnificent record. Conservative along many lines of action that the American Society of Equity stands for, it is aggressive in forcing needed legislation for the rural classes, and the measures that it has compelled congress and the different state legislatures to enact stand out in bold relief as a monument to executive ability and perseverance.—Colman's Rural World.

The Farmers' Union. The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America reports a membership of 1,500,000 in the twenty-four states where it is organized. One of the objects of the union is to rush the construction of elevators in time for the handling of the wheat crop of 1909 when it is thrashed. The organization is the outcome of a project suggested by a Texas school teacher.

Webster grange, Monroe county, N. Y., is arranging for a school of agriculture to be conducted by Professor Wilson of Cornell university.

English M. P.'s. Each of England's members of parliament represents on an average some 66,975 persons.
